Necessary Vote Mustered
After Brief Remarks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(UP)—The house today approved repeal of the 18th amendment.

The action sends the prohibition issue back to the states for ratification or rejection of repeal.

The vote was 289 to 121.

More than the necessary two-thirds vote was mustered in the house as the Blaine repeal resolution—passed last week in the Senate—was driven through to victory by a coalition of Republican and Democratic wets.

Presidential approval is not required for submitting the proposed

JAPAN PLACES LEAGUE BREAK UP TO GENEVA

Cabinet Votes to Withdraw
if League Officially Condemns Tokio

TOKIO, Feb. 20.—(UP)—Japan placed squarely before the League of Nations today the necessity of deciding whether to participate in Tokio's withdrawal from the league.

The cabinet voted definitely to withdraw from Geneva if the league officially condemned Japanese action in Manchuria.

This action, expected to come after the league adopted the report of its committee of 19 condemning the Japanese course, was a surprise coming before the league voted on the report. Tokio, by moving in advance of the league itself, apparently sought to shift responsibility for the break onto Geneva.

Premier Saito and Foreign Minister Uchida visited Emperor Hirohito immediately after the Japanese cabinet meeting to obtain imperial approval of the break with Geneva, which was considered certain.

It was understood the cabinet planned to continue Japanese new amendment to the states. But three-fourths—or 36—of the 48 states must ratify the amendment before it becomes effective.

Under the terms of the resolution, congressional action will result in the equivalent of a great national referendum on the controversial liquor question. Each state must summon specially elected state conventions which will pass on the proposed amendment.

Anti-prohibitionists, while jubilant at the speedy congressional action, realize they are just embarking on a bitter struggle to win ratification. Thirteen states can block ratification, either by an unfavorable vote or failure to act.

House Applause

As Speaker Garner announced the vote, the house burst into a roar of applause lasting several minutes.

Despite the strict rules of the house against demonstrations from the gallery, the cheer which went up from the floor was re-echoed in the galleries.

Garner, realizing the hopelessness of any attempt to keep order, stood smiling as he surveyed the scene of a victory in which he had played such a prominent role.

It was the speaker who has twice during the present session forced a reluctant congress to vote on outright repeal. The first time he was defeated in the house by a narrow margin of six votes, but today the resolution swept through triumphantly with 47 more favorable votes than necessary.

Shortly after the house met, Majority Leader Henry Rainey, formerly a staunch prohibitionist,

THREE ARE KILLED IN N. Y. SPEAKEASY

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—(UP)—A newsboy found the bullet torn bodies of two men and a woman in "Porky's" speakeasy, in the midtown theatrical district, today.

Each had been shot through the head. The bar mirror and a stack of glasses had been broken to fragments by bullets.

One was an escaped Sing Sing convict. The other was Michael
"Patsy" Griffin, 45, the bartender.

The woman, about 26 years old, and expensively dressed, and good looking blonde, was not immediately identified.

There were no clues to the slayers beyond a fedora hat and two pencils found beside a fence adjoining a nearby auto parking lot.

The colonel arrived with Mrs.
Robins at the White House yesterday and spent the night.

The colonel, a prohibition advocate, handed out a formal statement in which he said he once again was taking up the day's work, fully restored in health. He said he still did not know what caused him to lose his memory in the mountains of North Carolina last fall while the whole nation was hunting him as a possible bootlegger's victim and Mr. Hoover was wondering why he did not arrive at the White House

Navy Supply Bill Is Cut $26,000,000

House Committee Acts in Face of Warnings From High Navy Officers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(UP)—Ignorance of the warnings of high ranking officers, the house appropriations committee reduced the naval supply bill $26,271,120 today.

This saving, the committee found, will still keep the marine corps at its present strength, will not impair the efficiency of the navy but will necessitate wage cuts and the elimination of many luxuries now enjoyed by the admirals.

A 30 per cent reduction in pay of navy yard employees so as to equalize government and private shipyard pay, is proposed. This cut will save the government $13,714,827 annually.

The bill as reported today calls for the expenditure of $302,635,021, which is $26,271,120 less than current appropriations and $17,012,518 below budget estimates.

The danger of weakening the navy through lower appropriations during the present state of unsettled conditions throughout the world was emphasized by high officers before the committee.

Economies ordered by the committee included:

1.—Put battleships and cruisers in reserve commission as other ships now being built are completed. This—known as the Rotton plan—is currently applied to destroyers and submarines for economy reasons and must be extended next year to avoid increasing enlisted strength and operating expenses.

2.—Reduce direct appropriations, which must come from the treasury, by drawing against the hospital fund which is supported by sailors' contributions, by drawing from revolving fund supply accounts, and by reappropriating old, unused money.

3.—Don't fill the vacant post of assistant secretary of navy for aeronautics, or other vacancies for a $48,360 savings.

4.—Eliminate appropriations of treasury funds for movie shows aboard ships.

5.—Cut navy rations from 42 to 38 cents a day. Beans are good.

6.—Eliminate extra pay for admirals' aides, reduce naval attaches screen's highest-paid comedians, will not be offered a new contract when his present agreement with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer expires in the near future, it was learned today.

The studio was reticent where its several other headliners were concerned. Greta Garbo is still in Sweden, her mind apparently far removed from Hollywood, so the studio was in no position to discuss finances in her case.

At Paramount-Publix, officials were noncommittal regarding their future attitude toward Marlene Dietrich, Maurice Chevalier and the four Marx Brothers, their most important "properties."

Miss Dietrich wishes to go to Germany for a holiday at the completion of her next picture, and is understood to be unwilling to discuss a new contract until her return.

Chevalier has three pictures to complete under his present contract, rumored to approach $7,000 weekly, and the studio regards him as a bridge to be crossed later. The Marx Brothers are understood to work on a percentage basis, and while a readjustment is understood to be in prospect, it is being handled in New York.

Gloria Swanson is producing independently, hence will cut her own salary if it is cut.

COUPLE IN NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Feb. 20.—(UP)—Roadways at the foot of the Santa Monica Palisades were cleared today of an avalanche of stone and dirt which crumbled suddenly, carrying Dr. Armando T. Bissiri, Los Angeles dentist, and his wife, down a 125 foot slide.

The couple miraculously escaped minor injury, suffering only abrasions. They were standing on top of the bluff when a 46-foot section caved in under them. Motorists hurried to their rescue and succeeded in freeing them.

would "like" to help her, and expressed the opinion she had "told the truth."

During the hearing in the warden's office, the legislators inquired about the fight leading up to the killings, of the shooting and of events following.

Mrs. Judd maintained she shot in self defense after the three had quarreled.

"Sammy and I were wrestling," she told them. "I grabbed the gun she had and shot her. Ann (Mrs. Leroy) came at me with an ironing board and started to swing. I shot and she fell."

Asked about the dissecting of Miss Samuelson's body, Mrs. Judd denied performing the operation herself.

"I transferred portions of the body of Sammy from the trunk before shipping the bodies to Los Angeles," she said.

The state board of pardons and paroles will consider Mrs. Judd's plea for commutation of sentence March 6. An eight week reprieve, granted by the board postponed her hanging from Feb. 17 to April 14.

ZANGARA GIVEN EIGHTY YEARS JAIL SENTENCE

to murder. C. Cook and Mrs. Gill were reported resting easily today and hope was stronger for their recovery.

Only One Regret

Counsel for Zangara then read a statement in which they said that Zangara's "one regret" was that he failed to kill President-elect Roosevelt.

Zangara, wearing checkered shirt and light trousers, was calm when arraigned in the crowded, tense courtroom.

After the defense had been refused a delay, the charges were read.

To each charge Twyman formally announced "My client pleads guilty."

When the Roosevelt charge was completed, Attorney Twyman asked Zangara how he wanted to plead. "Just like the other," Zangara said.

Twyman then announced that Zangara's counsel had a statement to read explaining some of the background of Zangara's life and the impulses which caused him to hate the wealthy and powerful.

Twyman then declared that Zangara's one regret was that the volley of bullets he fired into a crowd last week had failed to kill the president-elect.

The attorney said this determination of Zangara to kill Mr. Roosevelt was "a gruesome one, but one to which we neig unwaveringly."

The defense counsel has come to the conclusion that Zangara, whom alienists described as a "soil misfit" is sane, Twyman added. He said Zangara "scolded at the idea that he was insane and considered himself perfectly sane."

Zangara watched the proceedings attentively and his only comment after the guilty pleas was an outburst of English and Italian.

Tells Story

Zangara was then motioned to the witness box and told in a cool and unburden voice why he had attempted to assassinate Mr. Roosevelt.

Stomach trouble which had both delayed him for a long time first prompted his hatred for "presidents and kings," the assassin said, his dark eyes flashing.

He said he did not know that Mayor Cermak was one of those who fell under the volley of pistol shots he fired at the president-elect's automobile.

"It was all because of my stomach," he said, referring to his attack. "It was because my father put me to work for a capitalist when I was a little boy."

"I decided to make him suffer," he said, referring to his attack.

"I wanted to make it fifty-fifty. Since my stomach hurt, I had to get even with a capitalist."

He shrugged and his voice raised suddenly to a high pitch which made his broken English difficult to understand.

"I kill the president," he said in a shrill voice.

"Don't you want to live?" the judge asked.

Again the shrug. "I don't care. My stomach almost burned up."

Answers Questions

The judge questioned him concerning the shooting.

Zangara responded willingly, saying that he did not attempt to fire on Mr. Roosevelt until the president-elect had finished a short speech, made from the back of an automobile, and slid down to the seat.

"There were too many people in front of me," Zangara explained. "I want to aim good—straight at him. I had to wait." He paused, then elaborated on his explanation.

"I wouldn't shoot anybody else except they get in my way while pistol pointed at Roosevelt."

"Aren't you sorry for what you did?" defense counsel Rala asked.

"No, I not sorry, not sorry about nothing," Zangara said definitely.

"Haven't people been nice to you in this country?" Judge Collier asked.

"No, nobody kind to me," Zangara replied.

"You knew what you were doing when you fired at the president elect?" he was asked again.

"Certainly, I wanted to kill the president."

He said he had taken a picture of Mr. Roosevelt out to Bay Front Park.

"So to know him," he explained. "I shot straight to hit him. It's not my fault if it hit other people. They grabbed my hand."

He was asked again if he wasn't sorry but replied:

"I am sorry I never kill him. I go electric chair now if you want. Let the judge do what he wants. I'm no sorry."

The judge's reference to "more later" concerned two of the five persons wounded by the shots Zangara fired at Mr. Roosevelt. They are Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, and Mrs. Joseph H. Gill, both of whom were reported somewhat better today at Jackson Memorial hospital. Their condition is still serious, however, and should one of them die, Zangara would be charged with murder.

The attorney indicated Zangara probably would be sent to Raiford penitentiary, although he may be held here in the skyscraper jail until the outcome of the wounds of Cermak and Mrs. Gill is certain.

CONDITION OF MAYOR IMPROVED

MIAMI, Feb. 20.—(UP)—Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago and Mrs. Joseph H. Gill, chief victims of Gluseppe Zangara's wild shots at President-elect Roosevelt, showed further improvement today as authorities prepared to bring Zangara before the bar of justice.

Major Cermak spent a restful night and physicians found his condition encouraging. Confident that his friend would recover, Governor Henry Horner of Illinois left for home last night after a two day visit.

Three attorneys appointed by the court to defend Zangara conferred with their client yesterday but refused to say what their plea would be when arraigned. County Solicitor Charles A. Morehead, preparing a possible plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity," planned to ask a jury trial "within several days."

He was going over a list of nationally known alienists whom he planned to summon to testify that Zangara was legally sane when he fired at Mr. Roosevelt last Wednesday, missing the president-elect but hitting five persons.

HOUSE VOTES FOR REPEAL OF DRY MEASURE

brought up the repealing amendment for action.

Favorable house action would resubmit the question to the states, as the senate has already overwhelmingly approved the repealer in the same form in which it comes before the house.

Galleries Packed

Public galleries were packed as representatives struggled into the house shortly.

Score of gallery seats reserved for guests of the press.

Women seemed to predominate among the gallery crowds. The buzz of conversation from the floor and gallery tiers subsided reluctantly as Speaker Garner gavelled an historic session into life.

The house itself was tense if noisy as the vital repeal vote approached.

Leaders on both sides of the chamber conferred while the clerk drummed out the reading of the journal of Saturday's session to which no one listened.

Consideration of the repeal amendment was slightly delayed as Chairman Byrns of the appropriations committee addressed the house on the controversial treasury post office appropriations bill which carries reorganization power for President-elect Roosevelt.

Rep. Blaino, Dem., Tex., sought to delay proceedings by demanding a quorum call, but a roar of laughter from the packed benches drowned out his request.

As the 40 minutes debate began Blanton also objected to the distribution of time, holding that "dry" would be slighted. He was quieted by Garner who assured him his rights would be protected.

Rainey led off for the anti-prohibitionists. His opening sentence was lost in the din of conversation.

Garner banged steadily for several minutes to restore order. Finally, Rainey began again.

Rainey Opens

Rainey sought to sustain his anti-prohibitionist attitude by quoting from a senate speech by Senator Sheppard, Dem., Texas, noted dry leader. He was prevented from quoting the speech by objection of Rep. Rankin, Dem., Miss.

Angered, the white haired Rainey turned on Rankin.

"Well," he said, "I'll say it on my own responsibility then—I'll vote for resubmission of this question."

Rep. Nelson, Repn., Maine, was the first dry speaker.

Unless some definite assurance is given that there will be no return of the saloon, national prohibition never will be repealed," he predicted.

Rep. Tarver, Dem., Ga., the next prohibition speaker, drew scattered applause when he appealed to his colleagues to "vote their convictions and not be bound by party caucus."

Rep. Lightenwalter, Dem., Pa., given a moment by a wet Democrat, got so far as to say he always had been opposed to prohibition, when the house leaders' program to rush today's vote stalled.

Bosses Are Heard

In one minute, Rep. Guyer, Repn., Kan., shouted that "he who votes for this resolution not only repudiates his party platform but is voting for a return of the saloon."

Death NoticesA WORD OF COMFORT

Just as the commercial world is straining to outgoing intermissions of recurrent booms and depressions so that stability may be attained and progress unimpeded, we should be devoting spiritual strength which promises enduring strength.

We can gain a firmer hold upon our faith and hope, events, great or small, will not unsettle us nor impair our steady progress. We shall be emancipated from the extremes of depression and go forward with confidence.

ASK $26,267 IN DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST DOCTORPASTOR SUGGESTS RETURN OF SALOON AS BEST WAY TO BAN IT AGAIN; GIVES FACTS

Speaking at the First Methodist church yesterday morning the minister, Dr. George A. Warmer used as his subject "Let's Have the Saloon," in which he suggested return of the saloon would quickly build sentiment for outlawing it.

He said in part that he knew the saloon for during the entire period of his ministry up to the adoption of the Eighteenth amendment he unfortunately chanced to be located in towns that were saloon-ridden. He described the institution with all of its squalor, dissemination of disease, corruption of morals and degradation of political activities in the community, the state and the nation.

Reynolds also alleges that 72 hours after the operation was started infection became manifest, causing the neck and face to swell with complete locking of the jaws resulting. He called Dr. Harwood for relief, according to the complaint, and was informed that the doctor was attending a military man, but could not be disturbed. It was necessary for Reynolds to summon other medical aid, the complaint alleges.

According to his complaint Reynolds went to Dr. Harwood on February 19, 1932, seeking treatment for neuritis of the left arm. Dr. Harwood, according to the complaint started an operation on the left side of the throat without informing Reynolds of his intention.

According to Reynolds, hypodermic needles were inserted in his throat and he was then informed that the operation could not properly be completed at that time and was advised to return at some future date.

He alleges that because of the infection his head, jay, throat, face and mouth became swollen and parts of the jawbones started to slough off, necessitating further operations for the removal of pieces of the bone.

Reynolds is asking judgment for $20,000 general and $6,67.80 special damages from loss of time from his business and medical expenses incurred because of the infection.

Interviewed this morning Dr. Harwood said, "I hope my friends and readers of The Register will follow this case closely and that as many as possible will attend the trial."

Why Nerves Grow Tired

By The Clinic of the Air M. D.

The reason so many nerves give way under modern strain is not so much because of the strain as it is because of toxemia (poisons in the blood). This will be explained by The Clinic of the Air M. D. in a lecture illustrated with lantern slides and color crayon, in the Ebell Club hall, Santa Ana, Tuesday evening, March 14, at 7:45 sharp. Those suffering from extreme nervousness, indigestion, colitis, arthritis, neuritis, weak stomach, dizziness, kidney trouble, eczema, and discouragements should attend this lecture. This notice in The Register will admit one; otherwise 25¢ is asked. Dial Radio KNX tomorrow and Wednesday morning 9 to 9:30 for a radio lecture on Asthma, High Blood Pressure, and Gallbladder Disease.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG - News Behind the News -

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

MICHIGAN

Senator Couzens called Henry Ford on the long distance telephone one night early in the week and said:

"Henry, I'll go on a joint personal note with you for twenty million dollars to see this Detroit bank situation through." In case you do not know how much twenty million is, use your month's salary check as a common denominator. There are few other men in the country who could raise twenty million in cash right now aside from Ford and Couzens.

Ford realized how much it was. He hemmed and hawed. The offer was not accepted.

That is only one of the inside stories of big money and big men involved in the Michigan bank case. Negotiations to save the situation were carried on secretly for five days before the Governor gave up and declared the bank moratorium.

That is the real reason Treasury Secretary Mills called off his trip to Kansas City and pleaded with the R. F. C. for action. Negotiations finally got down to the point where Ford and two other automobile manufacturers of Detroit agreed to pledge their deposits in a Detroit bank as collateral for a R. F. C. loan to that bank.

Boys in the know here say that would have frozen about seven and a half million of Ford's cash. It appears later he disagreed to doing it that way. His friends say he submitted a counter-proposal to turn the money over to Governor Constock if the R. F. C. would give the Governor fifteen million more.

That was impossible. No agreement was reached. The moratorium resulted.

Since then Ford's friends here have been trying to blame Couzens while Couzens' friends are blaming Ford. They claim the automobile manufacturer at one time in the negotiations threatened to withdraw twenty-five million from state banks. They contend that it was solely to stop this withdrawal that the Governor acted. He made no mention of this feature in his public statement.

He attributed the situation to Ford's refusal to use his $7,500,000 deposit. It is very probable most of the people involved lost their tempers and made threats back and forth during the unsuccessful negotiations. Direct blame may be hard to place.

HOOVER

The best part of Mr. Hoover's farewell address will never be delivered. He decided at the last minute to keep it wholly to himself. Advance copies of the speech were given to the press at the White House last Sunday. It was announced that the President would issue an important addition just before he spoke in New York Monday night. Over Sunday night he changed his mind. One additional paragraph was issued. It was merely an unnecessary summation of his arguments.

The natural supposition was that the President had intended to say something regarding his own political future and changed his mind. What had been expected was something like Mr. Coolidge's "I do not choose to run." The situation was ripe for it but there is evidence on the inside or out that Mr. Hoover had such an intention.

Those who know him best say he had something in mind about dropping partisanship to row together with the new Administration. He had a line in the address suggesting that idea. The undelivered finale might have carried it forward in ringing fashion.

That is much easier to believe than the yarns about his renouncing the throne four years in advance.

Every office boy to a politician here knows it is foolish to announce an office ahead of time. Teddy Roosevelt was once caught in that snare. If people know you are not going to be a candidate, you lose power and prestige. You also lock the door against changing your mind in the future.

There is no indication here that Mr. Hoover has reached even a tentative decision. Everything he is doing and planning fits into the picture of him as an active party leader, if not a candidate.

NOTES

A few days before the Michigan bank situation developed Senator Vandenberg of Michigan accepted an engagement to speak on "Bank Deposits" this past Thursday night over the National Radio Forum.

He cancelled it after the Governor's moratorium. . . . That new Washington magazine's first issue will be delayed a week or two until March 15 on account of mechanical troubles. . . . The reason that the French exports showed no arms shipments to Japan is that this phase of the business is handled by a French munitions works in Czechoslovakia. . . . Some shipments to Poland are supposed to have been destined for Tokio. . . . Garner privately thought the Detroit situation was an argument for his idea of guaranteeing bank deposits. . . . Installation of a new prohibition Vigilante Committee here caused no uproar among the speakeasies and only a modicum of publicity. . . . Elaborate preparations have been made by bootleggers to take care of the holiday inaugural trade. . . . Stills are reported running overtime in southern Maryland.

NEW YORK

By James McMullan

MICHIGAN

Nearly every banker of importance in New York is in on the Michigan situation from some angle. The Union Guardian has high-class connections here and the betting is good that an adequate solution will be worked out before the moratorium expires. But there must be burning ears in Washington.

FEDERAL RESERVE

The weekly Federal Reserve statements are somewhat misleading in that they do not record the effects of vigorous trading in Federal Reserve funds among member banks. Bank A, which lends from its excess reserves, includes the transaction as an asset among "Other loans." Bank B, the borrower, does not show a corresponding liability in its Federal Reserve report. The discrepancy runs into the millions.

UTILITIES

Plans of utility companies for refinancing operations via bond issues at a lower rate of interest have been called off. This is not because the bonds couldn't be sold. The intimation that public service commissions might insist that the saving thus effected be passed on to the consumer in the form of lower rates—benefiting the companies not at all—froze the idea.

Of course there are several utilities which would like to refund bank loans but they are not the ones whose securities could find a ready market.

EXPLANATION:

THEOLOGY AND RELIGION IS SERMON TOPIC

"Christian people divide on their theology even when they are at one on their religion," was the statement of Harry Evan Owings at the First Baptist church yesterday morning. "And the serious aspect of the matter is that in contending for their respective theologies they get ugly and call each other unseemly names, allow suspicion and hate to come into their hearts and violate that most basic requirement of the Christian religion, that ye love one another even as I have loved you (Jesus)."

"Religion is the response of our whole being to God and our fellow men in gratitude, reverence, love, good will, consecration, and service while theology is a response to the intellect very largely in the Science of Mind. Other foundations there are none. All other systems—systems based wholly or partly on knowledge gained through the material senses—are reeds shaken by the mind, not houses built on the rock."

FIREMEN ELECT ASSISTANT CHIEF

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 20.—The resignation of Hollis Fitz as assistant chief in the Westminster Volunteer Fire department has been accepted, and Dr. Russell L. Johnson being appointed.

A department meeting is called for next Monday and notices are being sent out to local men inviting them to join the department.

New fittings for the Midway City and New Westminster connections have been completed. This allows the Westminster department to be of assistance to the Midway City department when water force is needed in a fire, Midway City having the chemical outfit. The two neighboring departments intend to work together whenever necessary.

Christian Science

A lesson-sermon on "Mind" was presented yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Among the Scriptural selections were the words of Christ Jesus: "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. . . . Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock; and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not; for it was founded upon a rock."

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "The testimony of the material senses is neither absolute nor divine. I therefore plant myself unreservedly on the teachings of Jesus, of his apostles, of the prophets, and on the testimony of the Science of Mind. Other foundations there are none. All other systems—systems based wholly or partly on knowledge gained through the material senses—are reeds shaken by the mind, not houses built on the rock."

LEGISLATORS POINT NEED OF EXPENSE CUTS

Recommendations of the Orange County School Trustees' association will be presented to state legislators from this district by an executive committee appointed Saturday at a session of the association.

The executive committee, with one member from each of the county's five supervisorial districts, is as follows: M. B. Youel, Santa Ana, first district; John Tuffee, Placentia, third district; L. Warner, Huntington Beach, second district; John Osterman, Irvine, fifth district; and L. W. Evans, Orange, fourth district.

The association met Saturday afternoon in the Frances Willard school auditorium for a conference with State Senator Nelson T. Edwards, and Assemblymen Ted Craig and James B. Utt. The legislators outlined for the trustees the condition of state finances and asked for expressions of opinion on the 20 bills before senate on school matters, 18 in assembly in addition to the six senate and six assembly constitutional amendments.

Senator Edwards said that the state is facing a deficit of $50,000,000 for the biennium 1932-35 and something must be done toward reducing state expenditures or the state will face bankruptcy.

Don't take calomel!
HERE'S NEW HEALTH

FOR YOUR LIVER

New banish bad breath, pimples, constipation; feel like a million!

That tired, frowsy feeling in the morning, that "dark-brown" taste in the mouth—if you would banish them and win back buoyant health, don't expect relief from salts, mineral oil, or candy and chewing-gum laxatives.

For such remedies only move the bowels. While chances are, you're one of the thousands suffering from sluggish liver which does not yield sufficient bile—causing pimples, blemishes, headaches, bad breath and a general run-down feeling.

What you need is something which acts thoroughly but harmlessly upon the liver. And in Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets you will find that "something", which stimulates the bile flow.

A successful substitute for calomel, these famous tablets are compounded of pure vegetable ingredients, and have been praised for years by millions.

To get and keep the bile flowing—correcting constipation, skin troubles, and win back that "fine-and-dandy" feeling of youth—go to your druggist for Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets today. 15c, 30c, 60c—Adv.

Speaking of various proposals to reduce state appropriations for schools Edwards said that he has no desire to reduce school appropriations but the state must be returned to a business basis and believes that the proposals for balancing the budget should be put up to the people.

Assemblyman Craig said that trustees of the various districts have as much responsibility as the legislators. He declared that the senators and assemblymen get a lot of blame that should go to the trustees.

He declared that at present it is not a problem what the boards would like to do with the schools, it is a problem of what can they do. He said that within another year it is barely possible that the schools will not open even with a 50 per cent salary cut. Tax delinquencies were bad in December, he said, and forecast that the April delinquency would be worse. He suggested more children under fewer teachers as one method of overcoming the situation.

V. F. RUSH WINS BRIDGE CONTEST

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 20.—Verner F. Rush, former city treasurer, won the third Mad Hatter duplicate contract bridge championship, according to corrected scores made public today. He beat out his city paid championship partner, Attorney Ralph A. Frost Jr., by two points, after 26 sessions of play. Charles H. Jester, merchant, was third and Frank D. Hevener, banker, fourth. Rush also won the Frost trophy, a silver pitcher put up by Mrs. Ralph A. Frost and her son.

In winning the third tournament, Rush got 176 out of a possible 237 points in 26 sessions. Frost finished with 174 points, Jester with 169 and Hevener 154½.

The fourth Mad Hatter tournament will open at the Community club March 2 at 8 p.m. There will be 25 sessions on consecutive Thursdays. New rules have been promulgated for the drawing of positions. Handicap records, kept during the third tournament, will be the basis for the seating.

On Thursday of this week an "in-between" handicap tournament will be played, based on the handicaps of the third tournament.

PLAN MEALS FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

SAN CLEMENTE, Feb. 20.—As a result of statements made at the city council meeting by Dr. B. F. Mock, that many San Clemente children were undernourished, a meeting was held Saturday, those present being Mayor Murphy, Councilmen Robert C. Plume, Earl Von Bonhorst, H. H. Cotton and O. R. Gallagher, Mrs. George Ferguson, Mrs. Frank Percival, Mrs. Julia Dettmers and Mrs. Julia Carlson.

Earl Von Bonhorst, city health commissioner, as chairman, and Dr. Mock as vice chairman, will devise plans to secure necessary provisions and funds, the distribution of which will probably be directed by the Mothers' club, other organizations and individuals co-operating. It is planned to serve noonday meals at the school.

There being a question whether the log cabin should be continued in face of local needs, A. T. Smith stated that food and money donations for the cabin have come largely from outside sources.

Twenty-five dollars was contributed for the cause by members of the committee before adjournment.

Three Initiated
By Mesa W.R.C.

COSTA MESA, Feb. 26.—Three new members were initiated at the W.R.C. meeting recently. They were Mrs. Iva Cee, Mrs. Nellie Macaulin and Mrs. L. Rutter.

An interesting patriotic program observing Washington's and Lincoln's birthday anniversaries was put on by various members of the corps. Mrs. J. L. Pangle, patriotic instructor, was in charge of the program, which consisted of patriotic songs and readings. A brief historical sketch of the lives of Washington and Lincoln was read by Mrs. Ica Clark.

On March 1 the regular monthly social meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. L. Pangle on West Wilson street.

COUNTY RANKS HIGH IN VALUE OF PRODUCTS

Police News

Two cords of wood, valued at $30, has been reported stolen from the place of E. Marquis, near the Orange county hospital, according to a report on file at the sheriff's office.

Charles Richardson, 42, Los Angeles manufacturer, who lives at 621 West Colton street, has been arrested by California Highway Patrol Officers Lloyd Groover and John Turton and booked at the Orange county jail on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

California had 17 of the 50 counties in the nation producing the most farm crops and livestock products during that year.

Compiled returns showed the counties' ranking for livestock products, including dairy products, chickens and eggs, turkeys, ducks and geese, honey, wool and mohair, but not domestic animals sold for slaughter.

Los Angeles county led the counties of the nation with a combined value of crops and livestock amounting to $90,766,077, due to its production of oranges, chickens and eggs, dairy products and lemons.

Aroostook county, Maine, was second with $54,350,723 due to production of potatoes, oats, hay and dairy products.

The next four counties were in California. Orange county produced $52,175,745; Tulare county, $50,951,812; San Bernardino county, $42,964,771 and Fresno county, $38,166,975.

PLAN CAMPING TRIP

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 20.—Newport Beach Cup Scouts staged two treasure hunts as the main events in their regular weekly gathering. Billy Dickey and Carl McIntosh captured the prizes.

The next event planned by the Cubs is a trip to the newly acquired Limestone Boy Scout camp site on March 11, where they will pass some camping tests. Albert Spencer, assistant Scoutmaster of Scout troop No. 5, was in charge of the meeting.

EDUCATORS OF COUNTY LEAD IN CONFERENCE

Four Orange county educators will take important parts in the conference of the Southern California Elementary Principals with officials of the state department of education to be held February 25 in San Diego. Sessions of the conference will be held in the Roosevelt Junior High school there.

At the morning session Arthur F. Corey, Buena Park, assistant county superintendent of schools for Orange county will be one of the speakers. He will talk on "Reading and Literature."

The principal speaker for the morning session will be Boyd L. Sloan, Pasadena, who will discuss "Implications of an Integrated Curriculum for Elementary Schools."

J. D. Haynes, of El Modena, will be one of the leaders of the morning discussion panel and will be assisted by M. A. Gauer, of Anaheim; Maeve Manlove, Long Beach; Paul Ward, Hemet; and Ellen Breen, San Diego. V. E. Jasper, of Brea, will be one of the leaders of the discussion panel for the afternoon session.

Man Acquitted Of Theft Count

COSTA MESA, Feb. 20.—H. L. Hall of Long Beach, connected with the Nuol company and charged with theft of an engine from the Nuol property overlooking West Newport, was found not guilty in Judge Dodge's court.

The charge was brought by J. L. Boiling, vice president of the Nuol company.

It was found that Hall claimed part ownership of the drilling equipment. C. B. Diehl, of Diehl and Anderson, represented Hall.

It's rather unusual for a peach tree to bear and bloom at the same time, yet such a tree is in the yard of the home of Mrs. Stella Miller, 817 North Parton street.

It's still more unusual for a peach tree to bear in the winter time and yet have blossoms on its branches at the same time, and yet that is the condition of the volunteer tree.

The tree, about eight feet tall, is around five years old and has deviated from natural laws every year since it sprang up of its own accord. Right now the tree is beginning to put forth pink blossoms and at the same time has a number of peaches on the tree. The tree is of the cling variety.

Ordinary peach trees bear from August to October but the peach tree in Mrs. Miller's yard pays little heed to what ordinary trees do and keeps on bearing and blooming at the same time, although it is yet unable to produce fruit which is comparable to natural fruit.

HISTORIC OLD SHIP HAS FULL RECORD OF SERVICE; MECCA FOR MANY VISITORS

of commission. In 1871 she was practically abandoned. But always somebody would not allow her hulk to rot and fall apart. In 1878 she sailed to the Paris exposition, smashed her rudder and nearly sank, but was fitted again and brought back to America.

After being exhibited at the Boston centennial in 1897 and abandoned again, these words were written:

The Children Remembered
Then the U. S. Daughters of 1812 started another drive to restore her.

It was not a simple matter. Years of neglect had allowed the sturdy timbers to rot, the iron bands to rust, the fastenings to decay. A million dollars was needed. What Croesus would give a million dollars just to fix up an old, decaying battleship?

None, perhaps, but still help was not lacking. In the schools, Holmes' poem was known to every boy and girl. "Old Ironsides" was a familiar, a well-loved name. And the children gave their pennies, their nickels, and their dimes that she might live.

Liut. John A. Lord, naval constructor, has done his work well. Rigging, guns, fittings, furniture—they are all there. Even the original galley stove is in place. Enough board feet of lumber to build 47 six-room houses has been used. For much of the old ship had to be replaced. But the replacement was made with accuracy, and with loving care.

The timbers of "Old Ironsides" were bolted together with copper bolts, fashioned by hand by Paul Recere. HER FIRST FLAG OF 15 STARS AND 15 STRIPES WAS MADE BY BETSY ROSS.

Bulging sides, house the gun deck. Unless a fair hit was made the cannon balls would glance off the sturdy oak hull. It was during the battle with the Guerriere in the Gulf of St. Lawrence that this was first noticed and henceforth the old warrior was known as "Old Ironsides."

The harpies of the shore shall pluck the eagle of the sea...."

Rather, urged Holmes in wrath—

"Aye, tear her tattered ensign down...and give her to the God of storm, the lightning and the gale."

So they neither dismantled her nor sank her at sea, but they let her rest.

A half dozen times she was out

Curious mementoes of years long gone are all around. Sheet steel receptacles in which hot cannon balls were dropped to heat the rooms, are in convenient places. They suggest what her crew must have suffered in the cold forecastle after and during battles, and in those days of 1944 she sailed around the world, touching all climes.

Special Entertainment Will Be Feature of Military Ball

Patrons of the annual D. A. V. Military ball in previous years, have always felt that one of the pleasantest features of the evening was the entertainment planned by the hosts as an additional courtesy. This year, the veterans are outdoing themselves to give pleasure to the dancers who will assemble Wednesday night in the Valencia ballroom on the Santa Ana-Anaheim boulevard.

There will be the charm of the dance music, calling its message of gaiety and cheer to all the guests, regardless of whether they plan to dance or merely to be "lookers-on in Vienna." There will be the heart-stirring presence of the Legion Drum Corps, the men in their trim uniforms; there will be the sparkle of decorations for valor on the uniformed men, and the beauty of colorful gowns among the women.

And added to this, will be an interval of song, featuring the Santa Ana octet, rapidly growing in popularity and fame, and Ivan G. Edwards, Los Angeles who each year comes to charm the D. A. V. ball guests with his marvelous tenor voice.

Mrs. F. E. Coulter, who has been indefatigable in her work on behalf of the D. A. V. ever since the annual ball was launched five years ago, and Mrs. Paul Bailey, representing the interest taken by Santa Ana Ebell society in the venture, have planned the program features.

Miss Ruth Armstrong, director of the octet, will accompany that group in the songs selected, "Take Joy Home" by Bassett; "Nursery Rhymes" by Curran, and "The Star" by Rogers. Mothers of this quite remarkable new singing organization are Holly Lash Vise, Erma May, Leonora Tompkins, Edith Cornell, Sally Lee Scales, Cecile Cross Willits, Bess Hall and Marie Bishop.

Ivan G. Edwards, who is a brother of Harry D. Edwards, Veterans' welfare officer of Orange county, and prominent in D. A. V. and Legion circles of the state, was a member of the Canadian Mounted Police for half a dozen years, and will appear in his "mounties" uniform. It was while he was in that world-famous service that his wonderful voice was heard and enthusiastically commanded by Dame Nellie Melba. He has appeared in a number of pictures of the Educational Film Corporation, his most notable success having been attained in "My Lady of Escapade." He has not yet signified what his songs will be Wednesday night, but he has always been so generous to the local organization with his talents, that guests may anticipate hearing several beautiful solos.

Sorority Members Plan Future Features of Varied Interest

Meeting in the home of Miss Dorothy Lindsey, 721 South Van Ness avenue, Beta Sigma Phi sorority members had the pleasure Thursday night, of welcoming one of their sponsors, Miss Beulah May, who shared the various features of their program. Miss May aroused keen interest among the members by suggesting that they form a sketch class with informal art studies to begin at an early date.

Mrs. Newell Moore, sorority director, was present to assist the president, Miss Mary Ford, in business details of the evening. These included plans for future social affairs, one of which is to be a St. Patrick dance to be held March 18 in the clubhouse at Lido Isle. Miss Marie Lablachere as chairman of the committee, announced that Anaheim, Fullerton, Long Beach and Alhambra chapters would participate in the event.

Miss Delphina Lopez told of plans for a house party March 4 and 5 in Idyllwild, and members are to let her know their plans to attend.

Gerald Rusk of Long Beach, representing a firm dealing in pins, crests and fraternity insignia, was present with samples of special interest to the sorority.

For their entertainment program members heard a review of the Rudolf Besler play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," given by Eleanor Young Elliott, who also told of having seen the play with Catherine Cornell starring.

In Gift Shower for

It was with a world of friendly interest that a group of guests responded Saturday afternoon to invitations issued to a party and gift shower complimenting Mrs. Lynn C. Graves (Lorene Croddy Graves) held in the W. H. Paul home at 919 Minter street. Mrs. Paul and her daughter, Miss Betty Paul, had as co-hostesses in planning the party, Mrs. Henry Pankey, Mrs. E. L. Stearns, Mrs. Martha Rogers, Mrs. Dan Adams and Mrs. William Fisher, mothers whose young people have received training in music and expression under Mrs. Graves.

Their affection for the honor guest, and their interest in her happy expectations, found this delightful expression, and their guests felt the same friendly interest.

The afternoon's entertainment features had one prevailing theme, and after a half hour of needlework, guests took part in a series of guessing games, all pertaining to infancy, and in which prizes were awarded Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Elliott.

The height of enjoyment was reached when Mrs. Paul brought in the daintily arranged baby basket that had served her own tiny daughter, and which had been refined and be-ruffled for its future occupant, by Mrs. Thomas S. Croddy, mother of the honor guest. Heaped to the brim with packages tied in pink and blue ribbons, the basket proved treasure trove indeed to Mrs. Graves.

In the adjoining dining room, a lace-draped table was charming with its candles and tall stalk nestled in trailing smilax. Mrs. Alta Fisher and Mrs. Emmett Elliott took their places to pour tea, which was served with a variety of dainty sandwiches, molded fruit salad and delicious cake. Guests sought the several small tables, spread with pretty linens, to enjoy the tea menu in groups of four and to listen to an informal musical program by Miss Fisher and other pianists.

Among those privileged to share the pleasant afternoon and express their good wishes to Mrs. Graves, were her mother, Mrs. Croddy, her aunt, Mrs. Glenn Lycan, the hostess group, Mesdames Paul, Pankey, Stearns, Fisher, Adams, and Mrs. Billie Betty Paul, Miss Lois Murray, Miss Arden Murray, Miss Mildred Highberger, Miss Alta Fisher, Miss Helen Marshall, Miss Jeannette Klett, Miss Shirley, Evelyn Rogers, Helen Kirkland, Miriam Sampson, Florence Brownbridge, Lucinda Griffith, Sherrill Spurgeon, Helen Drake, all of Santa Ana; Velma Casper, Helen Klimmer, Louise Artz, Tustin; Julia Bingham and Mary Iach, Laguna Beach; Fada Mae Macaulay, Fontana; Teppy Goldsmith, Los Angeles; Mary Higbee, Claremont; Rosemary Thompson, Garmon; Monica; Marie Wales, Pasadena; Virginia Colvin, Glendale.

Entertainment

A charmingly appointed party given in the home of Mrs. Rudolph Richards (Helen Tantlinger) at 343 McKinley avenue, Pomona, Saturday afternoon, was the pleasant medium by which friends of Mrs. Ruth Tantlinger were advised of her engagement to John V. Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Newman of Irvine. Miss Tantlinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tantlinger of Newport road, Tustin, issued invitations jointly with her sister, Mrs. Richards.

Guests were informed of the betrothal by means of tally cards which bore pictures of the couple above the date, May 6.

Puzzles Intrigue

Bridge, orthodox entertainment for such an occasion, was abandoned Saturday in favor of the jigsaw puzzle in more immediate favor.

Indental puzzles picturing "Washington at Mount Vernon" in deference to America's first president, whose birthday anniversary was to occur within the week, were distributed among guests and a contest was declared among groups of four. Triumphant among these teams was a table of puzzle experts comprised of Miss Marian Bruner, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Mrs. Miles Flint and Mrs. Stewart Baird. Hand decorated Indian pottery, beautifully wrapped in yellow celophane, went in reward to each of the quartet.

The prize wrappings were in further elaboration of a color theme of yellow and green, selected by the hostesses. Yellow jonquils, marigolds and ranunculus were flowers contributing to this scheme, and the two courses comprising refreshments likewise emphasized the color combination.

Miss Tantlinger's fiance, Mr. Newman, arrived to assist with the serving and to accept the congratulations of the guests.

Miss Tantlinger attended Pomona college before entering the University of California at Los Angeles, where she completed her education, specializing in art. Mr. Newman is a graduate of Pomona college.

Romantic Yuma Wedding Date Just Revealed By Young Couple

A romantic wedding which took place in Yuma, Ariz., on October 28, 1932, has just been announced by the young people, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Keefe, who are receiving the deferred congratulations of a host of well-wishing friends.

Mrs. Keefe was Miss Patricia Kelly, the lovely young daughter of Mrs. Rose V. Kelly, Eighth and Parton streets, and for the past three and a half years, has been in the clerical department of the Santa Ana office, Southern California Automobile club. She and Mr. Keefe, who is in the main office in Los Angeles, drove to Yuma on October 28, and were married by Judge Freeman of that city, preceding them to Palm Springs for a short stay before returning to their respective duties with the Automobile club.

They have succeeded in maintaining their pleasant secret through the intervening months, just announcing the wedding last week when Mrs. Keefe resigned her place preparatory to going to Los Angeles where they will make their home.

Mrs. Keefe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keefe of Los Angeles. Secondary to his work are his aviation interests, and he is a holder of a transport license. He is an ensign in the naval reserve air squadron base at Long Beach, and a member of the "Quiet Birdmen," Los Angeles aviation club. During the past summer he was an active member of the Olympics committee.

His bride came to Santa Ana from Laguna Beach, where she was prominent in dramatic and artistic circles, with special interest in Laguna Beach Players' activities. She graduated from Pasadena High school, later taking a business training course. Mr. and Mrs. Keefe plan to go to housekeeping at once, and will be at home to their friends at a Los Angeles address, after the first of March.

In the meantime a number of post-bridal courtesies are being planned in their honor, one of special interest being the tea for members of the artist colony at Our Village, which Thomas L. Hunt, well-known Southland artist, and Mrs. Hunt are giving in the near future.

Rigid Control Of Loose Fruit Urged By Olive Grower

RETURN SAME DIRECTORS AT ANNUAL MEET

OLIVE, Feb. 20.—At the annual meeting of the Olive Heights Citrus association held at the packing plant Saturday, the growers went on record as favoring rigid control of loose and inferior fruit to prevent it coming into competition with the better grades.

Directors were re-elected, as follows: LeRoy Lyon, president; L. A. Bortz, first vice president; R. C. Patton, second vice president; Dr. C. H. Domann, William H. Maag, William Trapp Jr., and T. O. Walker, directors.

President LeRoy Lyon suggested the advisability of the various boards of directors acting on harmony in the matter of arranging wages paid to employees of the various associations. Salaries of Exchange officials have been reduced 10 per cent. Mr. Lyon called attention to the danger of reducing salaries to the point which would impair the morale of the organization.

C. C. Hillis, manager of the Orange County Fruit Exchange, rendered a detailed report on the activities of his office during the past year.

At the noon-hour recess dinner was served to the members and their guests by the Get-Together club of St. Paul's church. The committee chairmen were Messrs. Herbert Meierhoff, Fred Klammer, Raymond Meierhoff and Ed Guenther.

A copy of a resolution expressing appreciation of the services rendered the association by the late Ben H. Cole, was ordered sent to his family.

Favors of gumdrops and chocolates, made from the fruit pectin manufactured at the Exchange By-Products plant, were served with the dinner.

H. T. Powell, manager of the Exchange sales department, spoke at length on the problems of marketing. He stated that 12,000,000 are out of employment, reducing the buying and consuming power of approximately 45,000,000 people. Powell called attention to the savings which the Exchange had been able to make for the grow-

"Unless this is accomplished," he said, "we shall be compelled to develop other means of transportation to the eastern markets."

Dalton A. Field of the service department urged a closer cooperation of all citrus fruit growers in marketing their produce as the only means of safeguarding their investment.

"It's platinum setting? Fine!" Mona's tone was ironical. "No, there must be another way. I'm calling Mr. Garretson if I can get anyone to take me to Granada."

"Maybe Bud will. He's expected today with the mail."

They met Bud later as they strolled down the stairway wearing bathing suits for a dip in the pool. Bud flung a package of letters toward them.

"I picked those up at Queen's Park," he explained.

"Thanks a lot!"

"Well," observed Lottie a few moments later, "this is fine!" The girls sat on the edge of the pool, reading their mail. Lottie waved a thick sheaf of blue sheets bearing a ship's emblem at the top. "This is from Dr. Allen! On the Miranda. He posted it at Port of Spain on the down trip. He went back to South America, Awfully interested in those tropical diseases and says he plans to visit the snake farm in Sao Paulo. He's going to bring some serum back to those people we met with Martinique, Celeste's family. The old man was a doctor once."

"After remain so for several days, Mona, worried, decides to return home. One night when she is restless she goes to the beach and finds Barry there. He tells her he loves her but when he asks her to marry him Mona refuses. She feels she must first find a way to give him a share of his uncle's fortune. They quarrel.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLV

The next morning Mona decided to remain in her room. There was packing to do. There were cables to send. For of course now she would have to go home.

Josie, arriving with fruit and coffee at eight as usual, found the girls seated on Mona's bed, engaged in serious conversation.

"You told him, no?" Lottie said curiously, "and you meant it?"

"I mean it now, yes! But not for always. That is unless Barry insists on regarding this as final. I can't relinquish that money, Lottie, until I find some way to give some of it to him. Only his rightful share. It's more his than mine. You can see that!"

"You might sell the Empress," considered Lottie slowly. "Steve said something yesterday about the Maharajah of Bjodphur attempting to buy the diamond from him after it had been sold. Maybe the old Maharajah still wants it. That would set things straight, wouldn't it? Until the Empress appeared in Steve's shovel he and Barry owned everything fifty-fifty. That's the way I understand it. Sell the Empress, Mona, and hand Barry the cash. That would settle everything!"

"Do you think he'd take it?" "What? The Maharajah?" Lottie's forehead wrinkled. "He wanted it as a wedding gift for his last wife, Steve said. Well, maybe he can use it now for his next wife—!"

Then you're thinking of going soon?" asked Lottie.

To her surprise, Mona's lips suddenly trembled. "I can't stay here very well now, can I?"

"That was as a sort of charm against all ill. Tea here is a social custom." Lottie went on, cas-

First Methodist Antique Tea Held Tuesday Afternoon

ORANGE, Feb. 20.—The antique tea to be held at the Epworth hall of the First Methodist church tomorrow promises to be a most unusual affair, according to announcements by those in charge. A silver offering will be taken in the afternoon, when tea is to be served to the public. Members of the four circles of the Women's Aid are sponsoring the affair.

Antiques and quilts are to be displayed and it is expected that many objects of interest will be seen for the first time by the public.

Members of the circles are to share a covered dish luncheon at noon.

HOLD QUILTING PARTY

EL MODENA, Feb. 20.—The home of Rev. and Mrs. James Fisk was the scene of a merry party recently, when members of the El Modena Woman's Missionary society gathered for an all-day quilting party.

A pot luck luncheon was enjoyed at noon. Present were Mrs. L. R. Jones, Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Mrs. Lester Beymer, Mrs. Prentice Curl, Mrs. Jay Stone, Mrs. James Stone, Mrs. J. P. Hayden, Mrs. W. D. Granger, Mrs. Charles Gifford, Mrs. Elwood Padock, Mrs. George Bartley, Mrs. Mary Willsey, Mrs. Joseph Bricker, Mrs. Luther Barnett, Mrs. Mary Lentz, Mrs. Robert Lingo, Mrs. Mary Lamb, Mrs. Orpha Beitzell, Miss Nettie Jewel Stone and the hostess, Mrs. James Fisk.

ERS through reduced shipping rates to Europe, and blanket insurance of association property and employees. He explained the two principal methods of marketing, private sales to lot jobbers and auction sales; 40 per cent of the fruit being sold by the latter method. He stated that jobbers realized on an average of nine cents per box. Strenuous efforts are being made by the Exchange officials to get an appreciable reduction in freight rates.

"Unless this is accomplished," he said, "we shall be compelled to develop other means of transportation to the eastern markets."

Dalton A. Field of the service department urged a closer cooperation of all citrus fruit growers in marketing their produce as the only means of safeguarding their investment.

"It's platinum setting? Fine!" Mona's tone was ironical. "No, there must be another way. I'm calling Mr. Garretson if I can get anyone to take me to Granada."

"Maybe Bud will. He's expected today with the mail."

They met Bud later as they strolled down the stairway wearing bathing suits for a dip in the pool. Bud flung a package of letters toward them.

"Is the airport progressing?" Lottie asked.

"Yes. It would come faster though if Steve and Barry would pay attention to the work and let hunting go for a while."

"We're hunting in the high bush," announced Steve, who had just turned up for breakfast, bronzed as an Indian. He grinned at Bud.

"Can you girls ride?" Barry asked. "We'll take you—"

"Well," observed Lottie a few moments later, "this is fine!" The girls sat on the edge of the pool, reading their mail. Lottie was absent all afternoon. Barry would have time to plan and pack. Perhaps they could be ready to board the Miranda at Granada.

"It looks that way. Yes."

As if in answer to her query, there was a shout beneath the hill. Native boys, moving faster than the girls had ever seen them, came streaming out of the green tunnel of trees, running and shouting. The car, moving carefully under Bud's guidance, followed.

Bud was in the back seat bending over someone, or something. Steve! Where was Steve?

"What is it, Mona?" Lottie stammered. She rose and ran to the edge of the terrace. "What can have happened? Where is Steve?"

The boys, running ahead, reached the doorway. One of them shouted for Miss Gracie who came hastily with Josie, Florence and Marie close behind.

The girls could hear a sharp order from Barry. Mona put her arm about Lottie. Barry was safe! Barry was safe. Where was Steve?

"Where, there, dear," Mona began as Lottie started forward with a cry.

"What has happened!" she cried.

The boy came toward them, his eyes round in alarm. "Boss, he hurt very bad, Meestress! Very bad!"

"Boss Steve?"

"Boss Steve, Meestress! Very, very bad."

The car had reached the gate now and Sam ran back again to meet it. The natives already were walling with that monotonous note of despair they reserved for irrevocable misfortune.

"What happened?" asked Lottie, struggling from Mona's embrace. "How is Steve hurt? Did he fall? Was he shot accidentally?"

"Oh no, Meestress! Boss Steve hurt by fer-de-lance. The fer-de-lance!"

"That was as a sort of charm against all ill. Tea here is a social custom." Lottie went on, cas-

The Stearns sisters formerly lived in Costa Mesa, where their mother, Mrs. Ida Stearns, owns a home. Mrs. Ida Deakins, the Ebell president, presided at the gathering.

SEW FOR NEEDY

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 20.—Members of the Philathie class of the Baptist church met recently at the home of Mrs. J. G. Allen and spent the day in sewing for needy families.

A pot luck luncheon was served at noon to the following: Mrs. Brinton Hale, Mrs. Malina Ferris, Mrs. Herman Christensen, Mrs. James Cockerman, Mrs. Ernest Littlejohn, Mrs. Hugh Tyler, Mrs. Etta Chambers, Mrs. Ray Beardley, Mrs. S. C. Oerly, Mr. Conrad Oerly, Mr. May Coats, Mrs. Miller, Miss Jegnle Hestrom and the hostess, Mrs. Allen.

Quick! Stop That COLD!

Don't Let It Run Beyond the First Stage!

A cold ordinarily goes through three stages: the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. To let a cold run beyond the first stage is inviting danger.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine taken at the first sign of a cold will usually stop it in one day. This famous tablet is effective because it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, kills the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and tones the entire system. Anything less than this is toying with cold. Get Grove's Laxative BROMO QUININE today and accept nothing else. Now two sizes—30c and 50c—at all drug-gists.—Adv.

3000 Present for Services in Placentia

PLACENTIA, Feb. 20.—The tabernacle at Placentia seated more than 3000 yesterday in the evangelistic meetings being held under Mel Trotter. He talked three times.

In the evening the Placentia Church of the Nazarene congregation dismissed services and attended in a body. The pastor, the Rev. R. C. Rogers, sang at both the afternoon and evening services.

Announcements this week are for four afternoon meetings, beginning Monday and continuing through Friday, at 2:30 p. m. The topic will be "Victorious Life."

No service is scheduled tonight. "Double Cure" is the topic for the Tuesday night meeting. "Supposition of Certainly" is the topic for Wednesday, with "Unardonable Sin" for Thursday and "Halters" for Friday.

Workers from the Union mission in Los Angeles will be present Saturday night to take charge of the services.

300 at Fullerton Church Gathering

FULLERTON, Feb. 20.—More than 300 attended the family dinner of the Fullerton Christian church Friday night, when the west side losers in the visitation campaign, prepared the tables for the event.

The Rev. Dr. Frank Dowling and Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Wicklett led in the singing. The Fullerton Hill Billies, Charles Peckham, Earl Carroll, Dr. V. G. Rich, Denver Kiser and John Kewish, presented several numbers in costume.

A group of 80 members who had records of 100 per cent or better were seated at a special table for the affair. The Rev. George Tinsley spoke on "Dividends."

The Intermediate society of the Santa Ana Church of the Brethren was awarded a shield for largest percentage of attendance.

KREG NOTES

Tonight KREG will offer 45 minutes of dinner hour music starting at 5:45 with Kaaf's Hawaiians in "Twilight Dreams." The Hawaiians will be on the air for 30 minutes and will be followed by a presentation of selected light classics.

One of the most unusual war-time aviation stories will be told tonight on the Tale-Spins program. This is the tale of "The Other Baron" and tells of an unusual German flier and Allied Army orders issued protecting him and his unusual aid to the Allies and his untimely end.

Radio listeners planning to get in the studio during the broadcast of Freckles' daily program should come early. On Saturday here was standing room only with many of his admirers waiting on the outside.

TAXES AND ECONOMY

The most disagreeable duty, unquestionably, for officials who are in a position where the responsibility rests upon them, is to cut down expenses. Particularly it is true to make reduction where it affects the income of friends.

It is very natural for people to be affected from their own income, and to feel, regardless of conditions, they are unjustly treated. In consequence of this situation, and the feeling of officials, there is a tremendous effort put forth to raise additional taxes, rather than to make reductions. Reductions are personal, increases of taxes are upon the great multitude, and they are unorganized and unrepresented.

There are some facts, however, that should be remembered by the tax-making bodies. One is that the way to save the taxpayer is to cut expenses so as to reduce the necessity for income. No matter what form the taxes take, they must come out of the taxpayer's pocket in one way or another. One of the arguments used for the return of liquor is that we could use it for tax-raising purposes. We are dead opposed to raising the income of our government on the sale of beer, or the sale of any other kind of liquor.

It will be recalled when Lincoln was asked to sign the bill putting tax upon whiskey in the early days of the war, he objected, declaring that it would be a greater curse than the war itself, and only signed it as an emergency measure, when assured that it would be taken off immediately after the emergency was over.

Placing taxes upon anything which people believe to be harmful, simply entrenches that particular thing in government and in politics, and is immoral in its character, by teaching the younger generation that it is proper to enter into a partnership with that kind of thing, if you get a part of the "swag."

To a lesser degree, the same argument holds in regard to tobacco and cigarettes. The Federal government levies six cents a package on cigarettes as a tax, and now the state government proposes to levy three cents more. In some cases a package of cigarettes is now sold for 10 cents, though the regular price we believe is 15 cents. This would make nine cents on a ten cent or a fifteen cent article.

If this tax is urged on the ground that it is harmful, then certainly all of the arguments that have ever been raised on a tax on liquor should apply. If it is harmful, it should be prohibited, and if this tax is levied for the purpose of raising money, it should be uniform like other taxes. Certainly it is inconceivable that we should, as a government, go into partnership with that which we consider evil. At the present time, our Federal government gets from its revenue on tobacco, nearly three times as much money as the farmer gets for raising that tobacco.

Could anything be more outrageous than a proposition of that kind? And if the same kind of a tax were applied in every state, which is proposed here in California upon this, the government would get between four and five times as much money out of it as the tobacco raiser would get for raising it.

Special taxes should be avoided. A sales tax, or any other tax, should be uniform, as far as it is possible to make it. Selecting any particular line on which to put a tax of greater proportions is simply to penalize that particular thing, and unless it is done for the purpose of prohibiting it, it is without reason. And if it is done to prohibit it, why do we permit it at all?

The gasoline tax is another case in point. We are confusing our tax laws. The Federal government is placing a tax upon some things, and then some of the states are adding to the tax on those particular things, and there has been no scientific examination made or program outlined.

When the bars are let down on beer there'll be just as many go up.

THE REFORM OF WESTMINSTER ABBEY

Those who have visited Westminster Abbey, England's Valhalla of heroes and royalties and nobles of every description, will recall the conglomerate mass of memorials of all sizes and kinds that are scattered about in the nave and the transepts and chapels. A cemetery has not a greater mass of variegated marble figures than has this illustrious shrine of England's bravest and best. Londoners are inclined to boast that they have never visited the Abbey. And one wit has said concerning this display of memorials that its greatest contribution to the country has been an illustration of the "growth of taste in matters of monumental memorials."

Well, the new dean of Westminster Abbey, Foxley Norris, has decided that the time has come to re-arrange these memorials, and to move some of them out. The situation has become impossible. There has been no rhyme or reason to the whole business of installing memorials. Most of our American cities have Art commissions, whose business it is to pass upon all public statues and memorials to be placed in public places. This has been done to prevent the erection of freak and outrageous specimens of memorial monuments.

But if the changes are made, what is to become of the Westminster Abbey which we Americans have been visiting sometime in the course of our European trips? The Abbey has been one of the great sights, and the disorderly arranged mass of statuary, bearing the names of some of the most familiar of England's great ones, as well as some of those whose names have long since been forgotten, has been among the most precious memories brought back to our American homes.

Yet it is but another example of other changes that have been going on in Europe for the last generation. The picturesque Dutch costumes of the women in Holland are gone. With Eugenie hats, short skirts, rayon stockings, and pumps, we recognize no more the Dutch women and girls of a generation ago. No longer do we see the horses drawing the busses and cabs sliding over the wooden pavements, wet with constant London rains, as they try to come to a stop. The Beef Eaters of the Tower still remain; the King's Coach and horses still may be seen carrying the Sovereign to the opening of Parliament; the Lord Mayor's Coach makes its final trip with the new Lord Mayor to the Mansion House; and the King's Mace is still borne in pomp before His Majesty. But if Westminster Abbey is to lose its wonted monumental confusion and disorder, how long will it be before these relics of an antiquarian age will cease to be? Surely, things do change.

At any rate, Roosevelt's critics can't charge that his "brain trust" was organized to operate "in restraint of trade."

PENITENTIARY NO SANCTUARY TO THIS MAN

The other day we noted a prisoner was out on parole, and surrendered and returned to the penitentiary. He gave himself up voluntarily. This would tend to show that in these times at least, some people would prefer the penitentiary to being out. But not so with the 43-year-old ex-convict, who took poison at the University Police station in Los Angeles yesterday. He had made five trips to the penitentiary, and it looked like the sixth. He had confessed to hold-ups with a sawed-off shotgun.

While we are not for inhuman treatment in the penitentiary, by a long ways, we certainly dread to see conditions outside reach the point where men would prefer the penitentiary over their outside condition.

ASSASSIN SENTENCED

The people of the country certainly are relieved and happy over the news from those who are wounded in Miami. Mayor Cermak is improved and he will soon be out of danger. Mrs. Gill is progressing very satisfactorily. The others were not seriously wounded.

The would-be assassin has already been sentenced for the four people wounded, to an aggregate period of 80 years in the penitentiary. This will protect society from any further attempt at assassination by him. While legally he may be sane, he is certainly irresponsible, but in any case his incarceration is the only thing for him and for society.

SENATE MAY PURGE ITSELF

Senator Long is back in Washington. Certainly the exposures before the committee in New Orleans point to Long's final expulsion from the United States Senate. All of these witnesses, including his brother, cannot be falsifiers.

If Long is "fired out", it will raise the average in the Senate not less than 90 per cent. Huey has gone far and he has gone fast. But he has reached the pinnacle, and the methods by which he achieved it are being seen and they will prove his undoing.

Samaritans Unsung

Christian Science Monitor

Some national honor should go to the Unknown Benefactor of the present period. He never gets his picture in the newspapers. His name may not even appear on any emergency relief subscription list. He is rarely seen in the act of doing his good deeds. Yet his contribution to relief is a big one.

He is the small grocer in the poor neighborhood who expresses his confidence in his unemployed customers by extending their credit just a little longer. The grocer knows his debtors add in the best sense of the word trusts them.

Or again, he is a landlord who tells his no-income tenant with seeming gruffness, "You might just as well stay. I couldn't rent the place anyway." And he goes on buying coal to heat the dwelling and voluntarily reduces the rent so the tenant won't owe so much.

Many a "landlady," too, has done her bit in the stringent period, making a home for the young girl or youth who rented her room when there was work but who is now a nonpaying guest.

So-called commercial credit has undoubtedly been contracted but the credit that comes from the kind impulses of small creditors who know their clients as friends has greatly expanded. Certainly the funds of gratitude that are growing up for their practical sympathy should some day pay them rich interest. In the meantime, why not a salute of honor for the Unknown Benefactor?

Badly Needed Emphasis

New York Times

Who was the United States Senator who said the other day, "That's all rot"? The vigor might suggest several Senators, but the brevity narrows it down to just one possible choice. It was, as the reader suspects, Senator Glass. A former member of the Senate had asserted that Senator Glass, when Secretary of the Treasury in 1919, dumped a great many silver dollars in the East for the purpose of smashing the world price of silver. "That's all rot," said Senator Glass.

Why should all the strong language be left to the crackpots and the demagogues? Why does the well-informed and well-intentioned citizen feel obliged to stick to the amenities? Here is a young man just out of college. He is convinced that the only way to save our social and economic structure is by the free coining of shoe buttons. In developing his ideas he will mince no words about the corrupt decrepit and utterly obscene system under which we live, etc.

Here is a man of experience, learning, judgment and authority who gets up to reply to the young man just out of college. He will almost always begin by finding a great deal of merit in the young man's proposition, but would merely beg to point out, and to wonder, and to suggest that perhaps after all, etc. Why not say, "That's all rot?"

VAIN HOPES

I often wish I had the nerve
To plot my future with a curve;

I wish my pathway I could mark
By working out an upward arc,

Or with a graph a spot could find
Where gold and silver might be mined.

If I were just an engineer
I'd face the future minus fear.

A pair of compasses I'd ply
To map the road to by by.

And over books of tables bend
To ascertain the forward trend,

By following which my load of care
Would shortly be dissolved in air.

With instruments I'd calculate
The proper time to deviate,

What operations to perform
In order to reveal my norm,

And to envision, as a seer,
The things that must occur next year.

But figures only puzzle me.
And so no future I can see.

I'll have to use experience.
And so I've got it, common sense.
